

WISCONSIN WAR RECORDS.
How They Were Gathered—Their Previous Completion—What Under Way—What is Desirable to Accomplish—A Chapter of Interest to Veterans.

On the 15th of May, 1885, Adjutant General Ayer, Gaylord, passed an order to the officers commanding Wisconsin regiments in the field, to make out for each company:

"A record which shall, as far as possible, set forth in detail the part borne by each and every volunteer from our state, and which, deposited in the files of the regiment, shall afford useful and oftentimes necessary information, in our own time, in facilitating the payment of claims and securing pensions to the families of those who have fallen in the service, and which shall also remain a monument of the patriotic endurance of Wisconsin soldiers."

General Ayer appears to have foreseen the value of such records much more clearly than the great majority of officers commanding Wisconsin regiments in the field, to make out for each company:

"A record which shall, as far as possible, set forth in detail the part borne by each and every volunteer from our state, and which, deposited in the files of the regiment, shall afford useful and oftentimes necessary information, in our own time, in facilitating the payment of claims and securing pensions to the families of those who have fallen in the service, and which shall also remain a monument of the patriotic endurance of Wisconsin soldiers."

Chief Justice Orasmus Cole, of the state supreme bench, is ill in Milwaukee, and the report is current that he will be compelled to go south for the winter. He is 65 years of age and has been on the bench nearly thirty-one years. His health has been poor for a year past and is now badly shattered. He is troubled with stomach difficulty, and seems to lack recuperative powers.

Robert Garrett, the young president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, who was alone with W. H. Vanderbilt, the latter suddenly died, is generally spoken of as a more daring speculator than his father was. Speaking of Mr. Vanderbilt's death he recently said: "The dramatic incident of my life was the sudden death of Vanderbilt in my presence. I shall never forget it. It was like a fearful dream, and so swift was the change from life to death that it could scarcely be realized."

Hon. H. H. Giles, of the state board of charities and reform, writes the Milwaukee Sentinel: "Your last Friday's edition contained a dispatch from Madison giving the number of the chronic insane in the state at 835. The number of insane in public care Nov. 30, was: In state hospital, 520; Northern hospital, 617; Milwaukee county asylum, 292; county asylums, 935; total, 2,364. Estimating the curable cases in the two state hospitals at 80 per cent, there are in the state over 1,800 chronic insane. We have reports of 66 in county poor houses. They are well cared for. I deem the erroneous statement of sufficient importance to deserve this correction."

The death of Hon. Bland Hall, Vermont's oldest ex-governor, which occurred on Friday, at Springfield, Mass., was followed Saturday by the death of Hon. Ryland Fletcher, of Cavendish, Vt. He was an original abolitionist and a free soiler, and was the first man elected governor after the formation of the republican party in 1856. He was re-elected in 1857. His only public office was that of presidential elector in 1864, his attention being devoted to agriculture. He was 90 years old, and was the fourth ex-governor of Vermont to die during the current year. Ex-Governor Hall was governor from 1858 to 1860. He was elected to congress in 1839 and served ten years. From 1846 to 1850 he was a supreme judge, and under Taylor's administration he was second controller of the treasury. He was one of the original republicans, but went as a delegate to the peace convention in 1861. In historical matters he was a recognized authority.

The presidential succession bill that has passed the senate and is pending in the house, authorizes a president, in appointing the members of his cabinet, to name his successor if his office should become vacant by his own death or disability, and that of the vice president during the term for which he was elected. It is an unreplicable and un-American device in methods of government—Chicago Journal.

But what else would the Journal substitute for Mr. Hoar's method? Twice has the country been placed where the president were to die, there was no one to take his place. The principle that the office of president should devolve in turn upon qualified members of the cabinet in case of the death or inability of both the president and vice president, is a good one, because the administration is kept in the hands of the dominant party. This is as it should be, and why is it unreplicable and un-American?

To illustrate the Kelley case, the Boston Advertiser suggests how the appointment by France of a minister to Washington who was part negro would have been received by a democratic administration before our civil war. This government would have been likely to give very prompt notice that such a minister could not possibly receive such official and social consideration as the government of the United States would desire to show to the representative of France. "If, then," continues the Advertiser, "the minister of foreign affairs in France had firmly informed the United States that no indignity attached to a citizen of France on account of the color of his skin, and the emperor (or king), having regard to one of the fundamental conditions of French liberty, could not recognize, in naming an ambassador, the existence of any statutes or prejudices in the United States not existing in France, and should have thereupon proceeded to lecture the president and cabinet upon our liberality and degradation, winding up with an intimation that we must receive the mulatto or no minister would be sent to this country, what kind of reply would he have got from Lewis Cass, or William L. Gresham, or John C. Calhoun, or John M. Clayton? Further, what should we have thought of the sincerity of the professions of the sovereign of the French that he desired to cultivate the friendship of this nation?"

—Burns' anniversary will be celebrated in usual style on the 25th of January, 1886. Particulars hereafter.

—There will be a full house at the rink to witness the polo game to-night. Those who want seats should come early.

—Amber, ivory, Camellian wood and nickel handled letter seals just received for the holidays, out to order by Hall & Farnsworth.

—Special convocation of Janesville Commandery No. 2, Knights Templar, this evening at Masonic hall. Annual election of officers.

—The many friends of Mr. W. H. Ashcraft will be glad to know that he has far recovered from his recent illness, and is to be about the house.

—County Clerk Williams reports that the town of Clinton is "the first on the list to pay the state tax which amount was paid to-day, the sum being $1,931.65.

—Two trans who said that they were bound south came before Judge Patten to-day, and the judge charitably let them continue toward the land of orange blossoms and alligators.

—Our polo boys have had printed a little book containing the rules of polo, schedule of the state league games, and a score sheet, which will be sold at five cents each, with the proceeds to be devoted to the purchase of new uniforms.

—The Janesville Pleasure club are making extensive preparations for their second annual masquerade which is to be held in the Guards' armory January 5th. Anderson's band will furnish the music, and tickets will be only 50 cents.

—News was received at the northwestern depot this morning that Charles Stearns was steadily improving. He is able to talk and is slowly gaining in strength. This will be good news to his many Janesville friends who have been very anxious about his condition.

—Our line of holiday goods, handkerchiefs, mufflers, plush goods, etc., is still unbroken. We suggest that it is much better to make selections now while the assortment is complete, and thus avoid the rush of the last day.

N. Y. SAVING STORE.
—Gottfried Glauser sued for a divorce from his wife, Katharina Glauser, to-day in the circuit court on the ground of desertion. A decree was granted, Judge Bennett ordering that the one child be given into its mother's custody and that the father pay $50 a year for its support until the little one was ten years of age.

—The Congregational Sunday school will have Christmas exercises in their room on Saturday evening, notwithstanding the statement in the morning paper. They will have a literary and musical entertainment suitable to the occasion, and it is intended that the young folks be given a rare good time.

—Bolton Free Press.—City Marshal North has been a deeply interested attendant upon the proceedings of the Farmers' Institute to-day. Having been captain of the city look up so long he undoubtedly feels that when it comes to stock, especially hogs, he can give "points" to Mr. Terry and discount him besides.

N. Y. S. S.
—What is the dealers loss in the purchases gain. This is not the best wealth in the world for the sale of fur caps, mufflers, etc., and on that account Frank L. Smith has cut prices, so that you can buy a good present at a low figure for gentlemen, that they will have occasion to make good use of before the winter is over.

—Wheelock's crockery store seems to enjoy its full share of trade this year. They have ten clerks—two ladies, a cashier, and all seem to be busy. It reminds one of Macy's, in New York, or Wanamaker's, in Philadelphia, to look in at Wheelock's. They carry so many lines, and have so many novelties, that the stock is interesting to everyone. They do quite a wholesale trade also; carry a large stock, and draw trade to Janesville from a long distance. It is a live store.

—The Gazette, published at Janesville, in southern Wisconsin, reports the thermometer as registering 20 degrees below zero on the 17th instant, and says the railroad trains have already been delayed by snow, snow plows being in use. Out here, in torrid Dakota cattle and horses are still grazing on the hill sides and in the valleys, and there is no snow worth mentioning. The lowest temperature yet reached is 13 degrees below zero, and the mercury has indicated below zero but a few mornings.—The Bismarck (Dakota) Leader.

—The Sisters of Mercy of St. Joseph's convent, this city, have for some time past been industriously engaged in preparing articles for a fair, under their auspices, which opened last evening, in the Guards' armory, and will continue ten days. The armory presents an attractive appearance, and the different tables filled with a beautiful display—consisting of fancy work, done by the Sisters, and many other articles donated by kind friends, furnish material for pleasant observation.

Admission ten cents. This is a fair opportunity of taking a glimpse at the "things of beauty," which all should improve.

—Speaking about fine lap robes, we wish to call special attention to a sample mink robe now displayed among the fine assortment kept by James A. Fathers, at the corner of Court and Main streets. This beautiful robe is made from thirty two mink skins, uniform in color and of the very finest fur. In the manufacture of this robe the skins are so placed that the heads all point to the center of the robe. With the rich plush lining, this robe is unquestionably the handsomest in the city. Mr. Fathers makes a specialty of fine robes, and those in search of articles in this line should call and examine his stock.

—Now that the season for church societies has arrived the different methods for rendering them interesting and profitable are largely discussed. The Milwaukee papers have been looking the matter up and one of them comes out with the following item: "In some communities hugging societies have been introduced to swell the church treasures and a paper gives the following scale of prices: Girls under 10 twenty-five cents for each hug of two minutes; from 10 to 20 years of age, fifty cents; from 20 to 25, seventy-five cents; school ma'ams, forty cents; widows, according to looks, from ten cents to $2; old maids, three cents apiece, or two for a pickle, and not any limit of time. Ministers are not obliged. Editors pay in advertisements, but are not allowed to participate until everybody else is through.

—Mr. Glenn A. Bowerman some days ago sent in his resignation as manager of the telephone office in this city, and yesterday he received word that it had been accepted to take effect on January 1st. Mr. Bowerman, during his management of the telephone exchange in this city has made many improvements for the convenience of the patrons, and his management has been most successful. Several extensions of the telephone line have been made during the year Mr. Bowerman has been in charge, and we doubt if any other exchange in this state can show as better management. We understand that Mr. Bowerman has engaged with a wholesale house in Chicago as traveling salesman, and in a few weeks will be on the road as such. We join his many friends in this city in wishing him continued success in a business which he is so well qualified to fill.

Permanently.
—Rev. A. J. Van Wagner returned this morning from a short visit to Iowa.

—Mr. Edward Kelly started this afternoon for Plankton, Dakota, for a short visit.

—Capt. Wm. Cory, of Ipswich, Dakota, is in the city the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Henry L. Pitcher. Capt. Cory is one of the veterans of the northwestern lakes, and only left the service five years ago, after spending 40 years before the war.

—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lane, of Dakota, arrived in the city yesterday to spend the holidays with old friends. They are among the pioneer settlers of Beale county where they located five years ago. Mrs. Lane will be remembered as Miss Carrie Cutting.

The Milwaukee, who play polo at the rink to-night, defeated the Le Grande, of Chicago, last Thursday night, by a score of 3 to 0. They wear a very handsome uniform, and are a fine appearing lot of young gentlemen.

We are selling Athlophora, and will say that it is the best thing of the kind we have ever handled for rheumatism. I have sold nearly half a gross of bottles without any of it being returned. Sargent & Turner, druggists, Manning, Iowa.

How to Make Cake.
Many housekeepers have an idea that plenty of flour and sugar, with a few other ingredients are all that is necessary to produce a first class cake. This belief earned into practice frequently results in a heavy, soggy mixture, unpalatable to the taste, and demoralizing to anything but a cast iron stomach. Realizing this grave fact, and possessing a desire to elevate the standard of cake-making and cooking generally, Mr. J. J. Buchardt has recently placed in the market a new yeast which in point of excellence has no superior. This yeast is a self raiser, and keeps up all the time. A spoonful of this compound placed in the center of a plate and surrounded by raisins and other fruit will produce the finest and lightest fruit cake imaginable. Mr. Buchardt experimented yesterday for the benefit of the Gazette office. The foundation was laid for a large fruit cake. The state of the atmosphere caused the yeast to work unusually well and the fruit cake continued to rise beyond the prescribed limit, so to prevent a catastrophe and hold the light, heaved fruit cake down a little jolly and flour was sprinkled over the top, and behold a jolly cake sprung into existence. It kept on springing until the cake seemed at the top a full blown white cake, on which was inscribed in white letters, "Merry Christmas, tide." This pyramid of sweetness found its way to the Gazette office this morning with Mr. Buchardt's compliments, and has engaged the attention of the Gazette force most of the day. Try the J. J. B. Malt Yeast.

The Waterer.
At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 39 degrees above zero. Cloudy with south wind. At 1 o'clock p. m. the register was 51 degrees above zero. Cloudy with south wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 4 and 7 degrees above zero.

PRAYER.

As Defined by the Rev. Thos. Harrison at the Meeting Last Night.

The damp weather prevented many people from attending church last evening, yet a good sized audience was present at the revival meeting. A number of ministers were present from different parts of the county, who occupied a conspicuous place near the pulpit. After spending the usual time in singing and taking a collection, Mr. Harrison offered a very earnest prayer and opening the bible announced for his text the words: "Pray." Launching into his subject with characteristic fervor he defined prayer as being offered by the different classes of people represented in the audience, communing with the aged christian, whose white locks and wrinkled, yet peaceful brow, indicated that life had been one continual breathing of God's application and thanksgiving and following back through the different stages of christian life, to youth. A prayer was found for every age and condition.

After adapting the different kinds of prayer defined to the christian life, as found in the bible, the speaker made the startling statement that every person in the room was praying, and he prayed God that the prayer of the masses portion of his audience might not be answered, but that they might be induced then and there to change their petition. Closing the bible the full text of scripture was announced "I pray thee have me aroused."

When the invitation for seekers was given, about twenty responded by going forward for special prayer. Another hour was spent in song and supplication and during this part of the service a colored lady in the audience gave expression to her religious feelings in a manner characteristic of the colored race swooning away at first, and dropping to the floor, and a moment later springing to her feet and through the aisle with arms extended shouting "glory." The effect of this manifestation on the audience was varied; a few were frightened and left the room; others were amused; and a few apparently disgusted. To those present who had witnessed audiences of colored people under similar emotions, the scene was no new startling. The lady was removed to an adjoining room, and soon returned to consciousness.

The meeting last evening was impressive, and Mr. Harrison is still confident that a general revival throughout the city will soon be experienced. The services will be continued every afternoon and evening during the week.

The Highland House.
Mr. W. H. Cornean, the lessee of the old Farmer's Hotel on East Milwaukee street, for so many years kept by Thomas Graham, has given the hotel a thorough overhauling inside and out, putting in new furniture and fixtures, making it now one of the best second class hotels in the city. He has also enlarged and repaired the barn and stables connected with the house, and on to-morrow the house will be open for the accommodation of the public, and will hereafter be known as the "Highland House." Mr. Cornean thoroughly understands the hotel business, and under his management the "Highland" will be made a popular resort for the traveling public.

The Brand on Cain.
was not more fearful than are the marks of skin diseases, and yet Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is a certain cure for all of them. Blotches, pimples, eruptions, pustules, early manifestations, itching, inflamed patches, salt rheum, totter, boils, carbuncles, ulcers, old sores, are by its use healed quickly and permanently.

The Columbia Bicycle Calendar for 1886.
A truly artistic and elegant work in chromo lithography and letter press is the Columbia Bicycle calendar for 1886, just issued by the Popo Manufacturing Company, of Boston. Each day of the year appears upon a separate slip, and with a quotation pertaining to cycling from leading publications and prominent personages. The notable cycling events are given; and concise opinions of the highest mechanical authorities; words from practical wheelmen; clergymen, and other professional gentlemen; the rights of cyclists upon the roads; general wheeling statistics; the benefits of tri-cycling for ladies; extracts from cycling poems; and much other interesting information. In fact, it is, in miniature, a virtual encyclopedia upon this universally utilized "steed of steel." The calendar proper is mounted upon a back of heavy board upon which exquisitely executed water color effect, by G. H. Bink, of New York, a charming combination of cycling scenes. As a work of convenient art, it is worthy of a place in office, library or parlor.

Tobacco Sales.
Sale of seed leaf tobacco reported by J. S. Gans' Son & Co., tobacco brokers, No. 131 Water street, New York, for the week ending December 21st, 1885:

150 cases, crop of 1884, New England Havana at 18 1/2 to 25 cents.

30 cases, crop of 1884, Ohio pt.

200 cases, crop of 1884, Little Dutch, at 12 to 15 cents.

Total cases, 1,300.

How It Helped a German.
A Milwaukee German, in speaking of the Rev. Thomas Harrison's work in the Cream City, said the other day:

"Voll, he was a grate man, and he done oot of good. Vy he done me good!"

"Did you good? Why, how was that? I don't see any change in you!"

"Vell, I told you bow dot vas; you see before Mr. Harrison came here dere vas tree-four of my customers vat always got drusted, and neder vas any dings, and dem men got converted, and der first thing dey done deyf come around and buy up. May be I don't got any more dere brom dem vellers vor two reasons; virst day probably don't come around any more; and second, it day do I don't drust em any more."

Godliness is profitable for both lifes, even from a saloon standpoint.

Who of us are without our troubles, be they small or large? The blessings of health are most appreciated when we are sick and in pain. A hacking cough, a severe cold or any throat or lung difficulty are very troublesome; but all these may be quickly and permanently cured by Dr. Bepcola's Positive cure. Safe and pleasant for children. Price 50 cents by all druggists.

THE FARMERS' CONVENTION.

Interesting Session—A Good Attendance—Valuable Information Exchanged.

(From the Bismarck Press Press.)
The Farmers' Convention being held in the opera house to-day is proving of very great interest to those in attendance and the farmers of the vicinity are well represented.

The forenoon session organized by selecting Mr. H. W. Mills chairman, and Mr. T. B. Terry, of Ohio, as western correspondent of the "Country Gentleman," read a valuable paper upon the care and feeding of dairy cows, giving much practical advice, and cited his experience on a farm of 55 acres in Ohio. He stated that he was able to winter from 50 to 60 head of dairy cows on the farm, feeding wheat straw and 5 pounds of feed composed of 2 1/2 pounds of wheat bran and 2 1/2 pounds of oil meal. Mr. Terry claimed that kind treatment and keeping the cattle warm, and not letting them drink too water, had much to do with their condition. He also showed the benefits resulting from the feed mentioned.

The paper brought out various questions and warm discussions. Among the queries and answers were:—Question—The probable cost of keeping a dry cow in the winter?

Answer—Taking the price of hay as a basis, and with hay at $10 per ton, Mr. Terry thought ten cents per day would do it. Warm brands were necessary, however.

Q.—How should calves be cared for in winter?

Answer by Mr. Terry: I recommend that they be kept in a warm box stall and put in stanchion when they are fed; this gives you control of them and gets the calf familiar with the stanchion.

Mr. C. D. Fox, in the course of some remarks, said that he thought farmers needed more "punching up" than "putting up"; it was their carelessness that reverted against them more than a want of knowledge. Mr. Fox also made the statement that farmers were too much given to buying machinery, and that there were more farmers with mortgages hanging over them because of the machinery piled up about the place than because of the land they had been buying. This remark brought out explanations as to the utility of machinery, and Mr. A. B. Hoxie, of Evansville, wanted it explained that a speaker, Mr. Terry, in referring to the use of machinery for a special purpose, was a for specialty farming was not like a specialty farmer. Special machinery special tool for a few hours' work in the year.

Question to Mr. Terry: Do dairy cows, more than one-half of them, pay for keeping?

Answer. In my opinion, owing to two causes, one half of the cows do not pay their keeping, and indeed it can hardly be said that in cases, any pay. The reasons are poor cows and poor dairymen. Little fault should be found, however, with Wisconsin dairymen compared with most others, and Wisconsin dairymen are among the most successful in the Union.

There was considerable discussion over the advisability of feeding corn cobs in the feed. Some thought stock found nourishment in the cobs; others thought not. Instances were mentioned where stock seemed to like cobs.

Question to Mr. Terry: Do you recommend cutting of all feed for dairy cows?

Answer: I do not, yet some successful dairymen recommend it. It seems to be a matter of opinion.

Q.—What quantity of straw will a cow require with the grain?

A.—Probably about 20 pounds per day.

The meeting adjourned till one o'clock this afternoon, when the first thing on the programme was an able paper entitled "Clover," the commander-in-chief of Manual Forces. The paper considered the nature of progressed matter. Analysis of the soil was given, and arguments advanced to show that the soil does not wear out, but fails to produce because the inorganic matter has not progressed nor plant food.

Some plants take more life from the atmosphere than others, and therefore feed the soil. Clover is one of the best atmospheric feeders known, and the best natural fertilizer. Clover should be sown with every sowed crop.

Good advice upon the seasons and mode of raising clover, was given, and the topic was generally discussed with much interest.

Prof. Armbury, of the state university, was present this afternoon, and Mr. W. D. Heard, of Ft. Atkinson, read a paper on the dairy question, in which he is well versed.

The meeting is in progress as we go to press, and the attendance is large.

To-night the public are invited, especially the ladies. The band will be present, and there will be interesting addresses.

Prentice & Evenson distinctly state that Acker's Euphratic remedy has and does cure contracted consumption. Ask for circular. An entirely new medicine guaranteed.

Attention! Chester Union.
The Chester Union will meet on Wednesday evening of this week in the Sunday school room of the All Souls church on Court street. This change is made to accommodate the meetings now in progress at Court Street M. E. church.

Prentice & Evenson will refund the price paid if Acker's Blood Elixir does not relieve any skin or blood disorder. A new, but thoroughly tested discovery.

Boston Bakery.
On and after Monday, December 21st, until further notice, our delivery wagon will deliver bread, daily, to all parts of the city. Families not wanting the wagon to call daily, will be furnished with hang-out cards. Leave your orders at the bakery and get your bread, always fresh.

[Death of Hon. E. A. Foot.]

Yesterday at noon another of Rock county's pioneers was taken from the midst of his family to receive his reward above. The deceased, Hon. E. A. Foot, was born at Goshen, Connecticut, in 1839, and in 1845 came to this county. In 1846 he was elected town supervisor, and in 1847 was elected a member of the constitutional convention. From then until 1859 he held various public offices, being one of the trustees for the state hospital for the insane, a member of the assembly, and state senator. Besides being one of the supervisors of Rock county. During the war he served as chaplain in the 13th regiment of Wisconsin volunteers, though while at the south he was again elected county supervisor. He moved to LaCrosse, Kansas, in 1859 and stayed there seven years, being the first mayor of that city and being police justice for three years. Returning to Footville in 1870 he was elected chairman of the Board of Supervisors, a position which he held very ably. He had for many years been notary public both in Kansas and at Footville, and was highly respected by all who came in contact with him. He graduated at Lawrence University, Wis., in the class of 1857 and was ordained to the Methodist ministry in 1859 by Bishop Ames. In 1870 he was admitted to the bar. Besides his wife Mrs. Charles Foot he leaves a family of two children, Mrs. H. A. Egerton, who resides at the old homestead, and Rev. Joseph I. Foot, of Appleton.

The funeral will be held to-morrow, and the remains will be interred in the grave yard of the old Grove church.

Notice to Stockholders.
A special meeting of the stockholders of the Janesville Machine Company will be held at the company's office in the city of Janesville, Wis., on Saturday, December 26th, 1885, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of electing a board of directors for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of any other business that may properly come before the meeting.

By order of board of directors.
